

WeRateDogs Brief Analysis

WeRateDogs is a Twitter account that rates people's dogs with a humorous comment about the dog. Here are a few interesting quips that I have found through wrangling this accounts' twitter archive.

Most Liked Tweet: https://twitter.com/dog\_rates/status/744234799360020481

This tweet earned a whopping 164354 likes and was posted on June 18th 2016, at about 6:26pm. It consists of about a 30 second video where the doggo in this picture is pleasantly surprised to find out that he can stand up in the pool - feel free to follow the link above to watch the full video.

Considering tweets up to August 1st 2017, WeRateDogs has earned an average of 2654 RTs per tweet.

Below is the distribution of tweets and likes according to the time of day following a 24-hr clock.

Here we see that the distribution of likes generally follows the distribution of tweets. We can clearly see that WeRateDogs follows a strict schedule of posts between 3:00pm - 5:00am. Perhaps this is the schedule that they believe captures peak times.

This means that if you're a WeRateDogs fan you can be on the lookout for special coming between the hours of midnight and 3am as it seems to be their favourite times to post. Good Luck with that though!